Senior Vice President
Commonwealth
Boston, Massachusetts

Nick Maynard, senior vice president at Commonwealth for the past 15 years, builds and scales employee savings innovations to improve the lives of financially vulnerable workers. Maynard has led strategic partnerships and program rollouts with Walmart, Staples and H&R Block, and he now works closely with the benefits organizations at Best Buy, ADP and others through the BlackRock Employee Savings Initiative (ESI), a $50 million fund. Maynard also works with policy makers and FinTechs to address the chronic financial insecurity that plagues millions of employees who have inadequate savings and no meaningful wealth. Previously, Maynard spent nearly a decade providing strategy and operational consulting to Fortune 1000 companies. He holds a master's degree in business administration and a master's degree in public policy from Harvard University as well as a bachelor's degree in engineering and operations research from Princeton University.
